LAST DAY IN CAMP.

Was One of Most Intensely Interesting and Enjoyable of Entire Encampment.

SECOND REGIMENT, N. C. S. G.

Soldier Boys Leave for Their Homes To-day—Col. Rodman Has Words of Kindness for His Command—A Complimentary Letter.

Camp Aycock,
Wrightsville, July 30.

The sham battle this morning, the formal review of the troops this afternoon by the Governor and the reception and military ball at the Seashore Hotel on the beach to-night contributed to make the last day of the Second Regiment in camp the liveliest of them all and a befitting finale to one of the most successful outings by this division of the North Carolina State Guard in many years. The weather conditions for the past ten days have been perfect for an encampment and are in striking contrast to the rain and storms experienced by the Third Regiment, which immediately preceded this inhabitancy of Camp Aycock. Hardly a day passed while the "Third" was here that it did not rain in torrents and the wags of the Second Regiment are remarking jocularly that their predecessors with their gallant commander-in-chief, Governor Aycock, "must have all been Baptists." Be this as it may, the boys of the Second have been greatly benefitted by their stay here. The sham battle practice, the dress parades and drills, and the practice at the rifle pits, have all been beneficial to the men and the corps of efficient officers who have led them.

To day the rays of "Old Sol" beat down very fiercely, but there was a stiff breeze blowing all day, which kept the sand flies and mosquitoes away.

In lieu of morning drill came the sham battle, which was a decided success. Over four thousand rounds of blank cartridges were used. Major Griswold had command of the Third brigade, which defended a point of Bradley's Creek at its intersection with the Sound. Majors Bond and Bragaw had command of their respective battalions, which made the attack. The Third was flanked and routed.

In the afternoon Colonel Rodman held dress parade for the last time in this encampment. It was one of the prettiest parades that perhaps has ever been held in the State Guard. After the parade Governor Aycock, accompanied by his staff, consisting of Colonels Macon, Cobb, Bain, Taylor, Williams and Pollock, Majors White, Robertson and Bunch, Col. Geo. L. Morton, Colonel W. B. Rodman and Adjutant Davis, inspected the regiment by companies and afterwards reviewed them as they marched past. The record for the best line was won by the Wilmington and Tarboro companies, who were consolidated under the command of Capt. Cotten, of Tarboro. The Raleigh and Lumber Bridge companies tied for second place. The Raleigh company deserves great credit, having been organized only about two months. But the Lumber Bridge Company is not to be discounted, for it is one of the very best in the whole State Guard and gave both Wilmington and Tarboro a close "rub" for first place.

The good feeling that has existed between the citizens and soldiery at Wrightsville is manifested in the following letter read at dress parade this evening:

Seashore Hotel,
July 29, 1901.

Col. W. B. Rodman, Camp Aycock.

DEAR SIR:—We beg to express to you, both on our own account and in behalf of our guests, our grateful appreciation of the uniform courtesy and consideration extended to us by you and your officers and the remarkably gentlemanly conduct of your men.

It is with genuine regret that we see the Second Regiment, N. C. S. G., break camp, and we sincerely trust we may have the pleasure of seeing them at "Camp Aycock" again next year.

Thanking you again, and assuring you of the high personal esteem of the writer, I am, cordially yours,

J. H. HINTON, Manager.

The regiment will begin breaking camp to-morrow morning at 8 o'clock and night will find most of the companies at their homes. Order No. 33, specifying the manner in which the several companies will depart, was read at dress parade this afternoon. The first call will be at 5:15 A. M., reveille at 5:20 and assembly at 5:30 A. M. That portion of the order relating to the respective companies is as follows:

The ranking officers on the train will be in command. Companys M and E will on arrival at Wilmington disembark from the train and march to the S. A. L. depot, leaving on the 3:05 P. M. train. Capt. G. B. Sellers, of the Maxton Guards, will be in command. Each company commander will detail one non commissioned officer and three privates to look after the baggage of their respective companys.

VI. The tents will be left standing.

VII. The ranges and Buzzcott ovens will be left in the kitchen and receipts therefor taken from the regimental quartermaster.

In order No. 34, Colonel W. B. Rodman, commanding the regiment, takes pleasure in announcing to the officers and men of his command his pleasure and gratification at the last parade of the present encampment, of the true soldierly bearing and conduct of the regiment which he has the honor to command. He most cheerfully congratulates the regiment upon the rapid improvement it has made in military drill and upon the manner of the soldierly spirit that has been shown by its officers and men. He desires further to express to the citizens of Wrightsville and Wilmington his grateful appreciation of the many courtesies that have been so abundantly extended to the Second Regiment.

The order was read at dress parade.

Notes of the Encampment.

Dr. E. M. Brown, assistant surgeon of the regiment, has been most untiring in his effort in caring for the health of the boys in camp and is decidedly very popular.

"Our John" Cotten, son of Capt. J. W. Cotten, of Tarboro, was in camp yesterday, visiting his father.

Colonel Cobb will return home to-day for a much needed rest. He will be on hand at the rifle range, however, when the First Regiment arrives in camp.

Complimentary Wagonette Party.

Members of the Wilmington Basket Ball Association gave a delightful wagonette party yesterday afternoon in compliment to Miss Nessie Cotchett, a popular member of the club, who will be married to morrow evening to Lieutenant J. Bradley Wootten. The party was driven to Camp Aycock, where dress parade and review of the troops by the Governor was witnessed and subsequently members of the party were entertained with a water melon feast by Mrs. E. N. Farrior at the old Anderson home on Wrightsville. Among those in the party were: Misses Lucy Latham, Mary Nash, Anita DeRosset, Lucy Wootten, Mary Wootten, Mary Borden, Alice Borden, Elizabeth Payne, Frances Chadbourn, Augusta Wiggins, Susie Parsley, Lina Wiggins, Octavia Boatwright, Leonora Cantwell, Louise Bunting, Eliza Metts, Jeanie Peck and Miss Thompson, of Newberry, S. C.

$800 REWARD FOR MURDERER.

That is Amount Offered by All Parties in Gaston Price Case.

Eight hundred dollars reward now awaits the captor of the person or persons who on the night of June 16th, murdered the late Mr. Gaston Price in his store at Navassa, four miles from Wilmington.

Of this amount $400 is offered by Governor Aycock for the State, $200 by the county of Brunswick in which the murder was committed, $100 by the Navassa Guano Company, upon whose premises Mr. Price was killed, and $100 by Cape Fear Lodge No. 2, I. O. O. F., of this city, of which the deceased was a member.

The reward is a very tempting one which should bring into requisition upon the case some of the best detective ability in the country.

Canning Factory in Operation.

The canning factory of Mr. George T. Johnson, near Wrightsboro, was started in operation for the season yesterday. It is in charge of Mr. J. M. Bolch, an experienced canner from Baltimore, and about fifty hands are employed. At present only tomatoes are being canned.

[Special Star Telegram.]

CHARLOTTE, N. C., July 30.—The double header amounted to naught for the visitors to day, indeed it was worse than naught for the "down home boys." The Champions lost out in the first game through inability of their new twirler Regan to locate the plate, and in the second through their own inability to hit Lipp safely.

The first game was practically decided in the first inning. Regan for the Champions not only filled all the bases with "bases on balls," but forced in a run. He was then taken out and Allen substituted. At that time each bag was covered and Gates lined out a home run. "Tacks" pitched great ball after this, not allowing an earned run, but the odds were too much for the Champions to overcome, though they struggled manfully, even to extent of knocking Bass out of the box. They played all round the Hornet's infielding and stick work and would have won easily but for the fateful first.

At one point they had an opportunity of evening up but luck was the other way. With three men on bases, Clayton fanned and Devlin and Sebring went out on infield hits.

The positions were reversed in the second game as to fielding and hitting, save that the Hornets had no "jonah" wildness of pitcher. Regan went in again for the Champions and was very steady, save for a few wild pitches, but the Hornets found him sufficiently, aided by a muff in left by Sebring and errors by Frost and Devlin, to obtain eight runs. Lipp was invincible for the locals. The score by innings and tabulated score for the two games are as follows:

It Was a Very Bad Day for the Champions.

— It is to be regretted that the Giants exhausted that barrel of ginger snaps Monday. Another barrel will be sent by telegraph this morning.

— Only twenty-nine Giants faced Lipp in the second game.

— Clayton got the lonesome hit off Lipp in the second game.

— A shet out. The Hornets demoralized the Giants by giving them too much Lipp.

— Our Charlotte special shows that Allen did superior work in the box in the first game.

— Phillips, who has been playing first base for Raleigh about a week, has been released.

— If Stewart pitches for the Giants to day they will have a good chance to even up with the Hornets.

— Of the nine "assists" by Wilmington in the second game yesterday Clayton had five and Warren four.

— One little lonesome hit and not a run. "Oh! what a fall, my country-trymen," from nineteen hits and twelve runs Monday.

— Only three of Charlotte's eight runs in the first game were earned while all four of those by Wilmington came from good ball playing.

— Raleigh Post: "Morrisey leaves to day for Boston, with which club he has signed. He may join the Tarboro team again before the season is over."

— The necessity for strengthening the pitching staff of the Wilmington team is so apparent that the management will take immediate steps to supply that deficiency.

— Pitcher Cole, an amateur from Rockingham, N. C., who has played fine "college ball," was expected to join the Giants at Charlotte last night as an "emergency man."

— The snake editor of the Charlotte News surrenders its claim to having named the Charlotte team "Hornets" by referring the STAR to the Mecklenburg Declaration of 1775. Pretty far-fetched.

— The Giants and the Hornets earned their salaries yesterday. To play two games in one afternoon, with the thermometrical mercury bubbling around the 94 notch, is hot work.

— Umpire Ed Clark, formerly of the Virginia-Carolina League, is now officiating for games in the Southern League and is giving satisfaction. He has in that league many acquaintances formed in North Carolina and Virginia.

— In the first game at Charlotte yesterday Anaconda Regan was unable to uncoil himself and the Hornets stung him so badly he had to be removed from the box in the first inning. But he did better work in the second game.

— Henry Bryan is believed to be negotiating with the Wilmington management for "Reddy" Cranston, since Foster jumped the team Monday. Cranston was with Bryan in 1900 and is an artist behind the willow. The Wilmington "fans" would regret to see him go, unless it was temporary.

— Regan led the team in batting in the first game yesterday, having gone in right field when relieved by Allen in the box. Each of the other men on the team, except Clayton and Devlin, got two hits and Capt. Thackara got two of the four runs. Swander for the Hornets got two hits and three of the eight runs.

— Referring to the game of Mon day, the Charlotte Observer says: "Wilmington won by a score of 12 to 9 and won because that team outplayed the home nine point to point. They pitched better, they batted better and they fielded in an altogether superior fashion. The visitors played a clean, square, pretty game of ball throughout.

— Fayetteville Observer: "The Fayetteville team, which will leave here to morrow for South Carolina, will play both games with Marion instead of one with Darlington and one with Marion as at first planned. Sweeney writes that he cannot join the Fayetteville team, and Suggs, of Oak Ridge, will pitch in his stead. The boys will leave to-morrow afternoon."

County Road Recruits.

The municipal court yesterday morning yielded three recruits for the county roads, all of which must have been good news to Chairman D. McEachern, of the Board of Commissioners, who is known far and wide as a good-roads enthusiast. Bryant Jones got 30 days for an affray; Adrian Barlow, 30 days for not leaving the city to escape a former judgment, and Emanuel Moseley, 20 days for assault with a deadly weapon. Virginia Whitlock was fined $5 for disorderly conduct and R. H. Nelson was given twice that amount of fine for firing a pistol in the city limits.

Y. M. C. A. Bachelors' Club.

The patronesses of the Y. M. C. A. Bachelor Club will meet this morning in the building at 9:45 o'clock to make arrangements for a sociable soon to be given for the benefit of the fund to be used in fitting up the Association parlors. A full attendance is desired. The young ladies hope to fix the date and arrange a very attractive programme for the entertainment.

A Birthday Party.

Miss Lydia Walker delightfully entertained a number of her friends at a birthday party Monday night from 8:30 to 12 o'clock at her home, No. 720 North Seventh street. A splendid programme of music and other features of entertainment was enjoyed. There were many beautiful presents and those in attendance were most hospitably entertained.

MILITARY FUNCTIONS

Reception by Governor Aycock and Ball Complimentary to Second Regiment.

WRIGHTSVILLE LAST NIGHT.

Seashore Hotel Scene of Two Brilliant Events in Beach Social Circles—Music by Hollowbush's Orchestra. About 50 Couples Dancing.

A reception to Governor Aycock and a military ball complimentary to the Second Regiment were given at Wrightsville Beach last night, by Manager Hinton, of the Seashore Hotel. Both functions were held in the ball room of the hotel, and were the most elaborate of the Summer at that popular seaside resort.

The reception to Governor Aycock began at 9 o'clock, and at its close at 10 clock, hundreds of people had enjoyed a cordial greeting from North Carolina's distinguished Executive Chief.

Immediately after the reception the military ball was inaugurated. It was a brilliant affair, probably fifty couples participating. The dance was gracefully led by Major H. C. Bragaw, of Washington, N. C., one of the popular battalion commanders of the regiment, and excellent music was discoursed by Hollowbush's Orchestra, which is employed at the Seashore Hotel for the season.

The ball room was tastefully decorated in military colors and with its brilliant illumination it was a pretty scene indeed.

Those who assisted the Governor in receiving at the reception were: Mr. and Mrs. Hinton, Col. Francis A. Macon, Col. S. J. Cobb, Col. George L. Morton, Col. T. H. Bain, Col. Alfred Williams, Col. Pollock, Maj. W. F. Robertson, Maj. C. H. White, Maj. C. C. Bunch, Col. W. B. Rodman and Capt. C. McD. Davis.

During the week there have been many new arrivals at the hotel and both the dance and reception claimed the attention of an unusually large number of persons.

STRICKEN WITH PARALYSIS.

B. A. McClammy, Well Known Grocer, Suffered Severe Stroke Last Night.

Mr. Benj. A. McClammy, the well known grocer, conducting a store at No. 619 South Fifth street, suffered a severe stroke of paralysis last night a few minutes after 8 o'clock while sitting in his store door.

His entire left side is affected and his power of speech is gone. The stroke came upon him instanly and Mr. McClammy's condition was first discovered by a negro, who was about to enter the store and noticed the helpless state of the man. A carriage was summoned soon afterwards and the unfortunate man carried to his home at No. 619 South Seventh street, where Dr. R. E. Zachary is attending him. It is believed that the condition of Mr. McClammy is very serious.

Damage Suits on Tapis.

The STAR learns that the two negroes who were recently injured while unloading kainit from the hold of the British steamship Gladys have employed Messrs. Wm. J. Bellamy and L. V. Grady as counsel and have announced their intention of bringing suit against the vessel for $35,000 damages, unless a compromise upon an equitable basis is sooner effected. The negroes each had a thigh broken and a hip dislocated, and set up in their claim for alleged damages that they have been injured for life. Communication is being had with the owners in London, looking to a settlement of the claim prior to the departure of the vessel on Thursday.

Extra Trains Annulled.

On account of the departure of the Second Regiment from Camp Aycock to-day all extra trains on the Wilmington Seacoast railroad have been annulled for the remainder of the week until the coming of the First Regiment next Monday, when it is understood, the extra trains will be again put in operation. The schedule maintained during the past week over the road has been highly satisfactory to those in camp and to the visitors and the officials are to be most heartily commended for their services in the matter.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JULY 31.

THE PLACE AND THE WAY TO STRIKE.

It is estimated that there are about 175,000 men involved in one way or another in the present strike against the steel and iron combines. The strike will probably end, as all strikes do, by mutual concessions, which might as well have been made at first as at last, before millions of dollars had been lost in wages by the strikers, who generally lose more than their employers do, because if the strike reduces the output and there is a demand for that output, the prices go up and the employers reap the benefit of that. In fact it has been asserted, and with good grounds too, that strikes are sometimes encouraged, and even forced by employers when from overstocking prices run down, to give an excuse to raise prices and get rid of the stock on hand at the advanced prices. Then parleying begins, concessions are made, the strike is declared off and work is resumed, the workmen who went in the strike losing in the meantime all the wages they would have earned if there had been no strike.

Without discussing the result of the present strike or of any other strike, this is conceded to be a contest between the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers and the iron and steel combines represented by the United States Steel Corporation. It is not a question of wages, but a question whether this steel corporation shall recognize the standing and supremacy of the Amalgamated Association, and be dictated to by it as to whom they shall employ, or whether the steel corporation shall ignore the Amalgamated Association and employ whom it pleases, and if it sees fit draw the line against members of the Association.

It is said that there is a probability of a compromise on this, that the Amalgamated Association will recede from its demand that the supremacy of the Association be recognized, and the steel corporation will leave it optional with its men whether they join the Association or not, making no objection if they do. This is a point gained by the Association, for some of the plants would not employ men who belonged to the Association, but it is not all the Association contended for when the strike was ordered. If this spirit of concession had obtained at the beginning there would have been no strike. It is estimated that the strike has since it began cost the strikers and their employers $7,500,000, not counting what it has cost the country in other ways, possibly as much more.

Considering how little is gained by strikes generally, what they cost those who are engaged in them on both sides, the suffering they entail on the families of the strikers, what they cost the country at large even when they are not of long duration and are not attended by violence or lawlessness, and the ill feeling they engender between the strikers and employers, it might be asked if strikes are the best way to settle these labor disputes. In the present instance it is a strike of associated workmen against consolidated capital, a contest in which the capital represented is united, but the workmen are not, for there are a good many of them who do not belong to the association, and claim the right to continue at work regardless of the action of the association. That's when the association is weak, for some of the plants against which the strike is declared can continue to run, although their output may be somewhat reduced, which is not a serious matter with them since they can make their prices in accordance with the demand for their goods and make as much money on a smaller output as they would have made at a lower price on a larger one. If the workmen were as thoroughly united as the plants against which the strike has been declared are then they might be masters of the situation and be able to stop the wheels of all and bring them to a standstill. But this they have not been able to do, and will not be able to do while there are so many workmen who refuse to affiliate with or recognize the authority of the workmen's organizations.

The corporations against which this strike has been in progress are all known as trusts, and are now embraced in the big billion-dollar trust known as the United States Steel Corporation. Every one of these is strengthened, if not made possible, by the protective tariff that gives them not only a monopoly of the home market, but also a monopoly of the labor market, which they control by acting in unison, fixing rules and regulations to suit themselves, and also the scale of wages. All under one arrangement as they are there is no competition for labor and the result is that their workmen must take the wages they are willing to pay or go idle, and take the chances of finding work in some establishment not embraced in the combine of trusts.

If the workmen object to this could not they do themselves more service, and at less cost to themselves, by voting for a different tariff, for a system that would not foster the monstrous and oppressive combines as the Dingley tariff does? By voting for the party which is opposed to this kind of class legislation they would strike at the root and accomplish more by their ballots than they do by all their strikes, and do it without costing them a dollar or causing the loss of a dollar to the country. But with a blind fatuity thousands of them vote to perpetuate this trust-breeding and supporting system, and then strike against the very evils they have brought upon themselves.

A SUCCESSFUL NEGRO COLONY.

The success of colonies, white or black, depends largely, if not altogether, on the management and the capacity of the men who direct the movement. A number of negro colonies have been attempted in Kansas, Oklahoma and other sections of the West, but as far as we know they have been failures, either on account of the incapacity or the dishonesty of those who got them up, or because there were among the colonists too many shiftless, trifling and disreputable characters, who preyed upon the better class.

But there is in Mississippi a negro colony which is a success, which achieved success in the face of many difficulties and which furnishes an object lesson that other negroes who desire to better their condition and become independent might study with profit. The New Orleans Times-Democrat thus describes it:

The town was laid out in 1888. About thirty families settled there, clearing seventy-five acres and building cabins for themselves the first year. In the meantime, they supported themselves by cutting railroad ties, barrel staves and stave bolts until the first crop was ready to harvest. The first patch of corn planted was eaten by the bears and raccoons; deer were plentiful, and became a nuisance because they acquired an appetite for the tender shoots of the sugar cane. Wolves, wildcats and panthers were also neighborly, and the opportunities for shooting wild game would have been enjoyed by the vice-president.

"Notwithstanding all difficulties, the people prospered; the town grew, and there are now 1,500 settlers, with 18,000 acres of land under cultivation in corn, cotton, sugar cane and garden truck. The original log huts have been replaced by neat and comfortable dwelling houses. The railway station is one of the best on the line, and has furnished an architectural model to be imitated by the citizens. There are five general supply stores, which are said to be prosperous, and the community has thus far been without the experience of crime. There are no police, except the regular town constable, and the arrests thus far have been confined to petty thieves. The people pay their taxes promptly, every family in town is self supporting, new settlers are coming in gradually, and the area of cultivated land is increasing. Last year, it is said, the receipts for the railroad company for outgoing freight were $35,000."

This colony is situated in the Yazoo Delta of Mississippi, and is under the management of Isaac T. Montgomery, formerly a slave of Jefferson Davis, who in selecting the people for his colony was careful to keep out all worthless or trifling characters. The result is a good, industrious class of people, who take care of themselves and don't require watching.

A BIG LOTTERY.

In all the history of the homestead business in this country there never was the equal of the wild rush that has been made for the Oklahoma lands recently thrown open to settlement. Two years ago or more the movement of land seekers began in that direction, for it was then thought that the reservations would be opened shortly, but litigation took place, the Indians protested against the opening, the matter got into the courts and that delayed the opening.

But the number of land seekers continued to steadily increase, until there were finally 165,865 expectant people camped along the borders—men with their wives and children, single men, single women, some seeking homesteads, and many seeking the lands for speculative purposes. There this great multitude waited, waited patiently, many of them having suffered much in the meantime, waiting for the registrations to begin. And when they did begin there were only 13,000 farms to be divided among this 165,865 people. The consequence was that drawing by lot became necessary, the first names drawn being entitled to the first choice.

At the rate of drawing it will take several days to get through with it and then there will be 152,865 disappointed, landless people who waited long, many of them suffering much, and will be worse off than when they first turned their steps in that direction with a homestead in their eyes.

There is bad management about this whole business and some plan should be adopted to prevent these rushes, and all this disappointment and suffering. If these people who had gone on this wild goose chase to Oklahoma had come South they could have gotten better farms at less money, counting the loss of time and expense while waiting on the frontier, as many Western people have already done.

When Mr. A. Kinard, an Albany, N. Y., merchant, saw in the press dispatches that he had committed suicide by throwing himself under the wheels of a railroad train at Atlanta, Ga., and that his corpse had been expressed to Albany, he denied it in language as hot as the weather and declared that he had not only not committed suicide, but that he was not dead at all, and had no desire to be buried even by proxy. Now they are trying to find out who the man is that they took for Mr. Kinard.

The fastest train in the world runs between Paris and Bordeaux, France, a distance of 383 miles which it makes in 328 minutes. The next fastest is the "Empire State Express," on the New York Central, which makes 440 miles in 495 minutes. The Superintendent says it could do better but this is fast enough for all practical purposes.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—— A New Orleans negro minister has warned his congregation against the chocolate-colored plank of the Ohio Republicans. The good man looks upon it as a piece of campaign buncombe. So it appears that the Ohio Republicans are not fooling all the colored brethern.—Washington Post, Ind.

—— Several of the principals on both sides of the present big steel controversy, so it is stated, attempted to "steal" a march on the community in general on Saturday by coming to the conference in New York under assumed names. This is perhaps the easiest way for them to destroy public confidence in the sincerity of their intentions.—Baltimore Herald, Ind.

—— "The Philadelphia Press," says the Washington Post, "has asserted that the Republican machine in that city polls 60,000 to 80,000 fraudulent votes. Does not that shameful situation call as loudly for remedial action as the disparity between the number of voters and the number of votes cast in Alabama and Arkansas?" The idea! Why should it? The Philadelphia votes count for Republican candidates and policies.—Charleston News and Courier, Dem.

—— The Boers have been exterminated long ago, but a British train has disappeared, guards, stores and all. The ghosts of the dead under Dewet seem to be more active than the living proved under Cronje. Let us not forget that America was conquered once upon a time, and a report sent to London that "the traitor Washington and his few ragged followers have disappeared in the depths of the impenetrable forests." Washington returned from Valley Forge and Howe disappeared in his turn from Philadelphia.—Jacksonville Times-Union, Dem.

It is charged that he forged the name of a brother who is now dead and another brother, the administrator of the dead man's estate, makes the charge. — Louisburg Times: News reached the Times' office Thursday night, by telephone from Centerville, that about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon Jim, Plummer Pearce was shot and killed by June Lancaster, (both white) at the house of the latter in Gold Mine township. Lancaster claims that he did the killing in self defence. Pearce shot twice at Lancaster in his own house before Lancaster returned the fire. Warrants were out for Pearce for an attempted assault upon a married lady. Pearce and Lancaster were brothers in-law.

— Gastonia Gazette: Some promising copper ore was shown us this morning by Mr. C. T. Stowe, of Belmont. It contains a liberal deposit of gold also. The ore came from Mr. Stowe's place, where Messrs. Rich, Maxwell & Morris, a prospecting company from Charlotte are sinking a shaft —— Two bales to the acre is the record Mr. Sloan Robinson hopes to make this fall on a two acre lot of cotton. The present promise is favorable, so say visitors who have seen the crop. Last year Mr. Robinson made three bales on the two acreas, and this year he is trying to go one better.

— Newton Enterprise: In view of the fact that the corn crop will be short this year and the further fact that very little good hay has been made on the lowland meadows on account of the freshets, grain and feed stuff will be very scarce next year. —— The last of July is very late to be working in the crops, but many farmers have not yet finished laying by their corn and cotton. With a few exceptional fields these crops are not very promising. The low-land corn was overflowed so often that it will not make much corn and many fields of upland corn and cotton stood in the grass so long that full crops on them are hardly possible. A drought, which may look for next month, would do additional harm. —— The wheat threshers are not finding good crops this year. The great majority of crops are not more than half as large as were raised on the same number of acres of the same quality of land last year, and many of them are not more than a third. The fly last fall fall did the damage. The only fields that did at all well were those that were sown very late; form the 10 of November on. Many farmers are now saying they will never sow wheat again until after several big killing frosts. The crop in Catawba this year will not average more than 6 bushels to the acre.

MARKED HIS UNIFORM.

Major Brown Did It His Own Way For the Lieutenant.

Major Brown of the old Fifth cavalry was given to what his fellow officers used to call "periodical eccentricity." When the eccentricity struck him, it took the form of a fixed determination to sit in his quarters with no companions save something made of earthenware and a much smaller object made of glass. When the major was eccentric, nobody dared go near him save Aaron, his negro cook, for the major had a cowboy habit of shooting his gun around the feet and head of an intruder, and the major was no respecter of rank—that is, when he was eccentric. One day there reported at Fort Dodge to join a young fellow from West Point. He had been assigned to Major Brown's troop. The stripling lieutenant reported, as in duty bound, to the commanding officer of the post and then started, as equally in duty bound, to report to his troop commander Major Brown. The commanding officer did not dare to tell the young fellow that the major was that day eccentric, but he did tell him that there was no imperative necessity of reporting to his troop commander then, and he might put it off for a day or two. The lieutenant, however had not been toeing his mark for four years for nothing. He had read his orders aright, and off he started for Major Brown's quarters. He was in civilian clothes, and in his hand he carried a dress suit case containing his uniform. He rapped at the door of Major Brown's quarters. A lion't roar bade him enter in he went. Major Brown was seated at a table.

"Major Brown?"

"Yes."

"I am Lieutenant Edwards, sir. I have the honor to report to you for duty."

"Lieutenant Edwards, eh? What you got in that case, lieutenant?"

"My uniform, sir."

"Is your clothing marked, lieutenant?"

"My linen is, sir, but my heavier clothing is not."

"I'll mark it for you, lieutenant."

From behind the jug came a cavalry Colt, and before the astonished young soldier could move three revolver shots in rapid succession were pumped into and through his dress suit case. His uniform was marked.—Chicago Times-Herald.

THE PRICE.

That was a sorry bargain that I made.
You offered me an hour's talk with you
By the great logs that light your chimney place,
An hour's right of looking on your face,
A fleeting smile, a little laugh or two.
How could I guess the price that must be paid?
That was a sorry bargain that I made.

That was a sorry bargain that I made.
Outside the wind dashed like a 'wildered bird;
Against your window flashed the driven rain,
And in its pauses thrilled your voice again;
Little I knew the cost of every word.
That was a sorry bargain that I made.
How could I guess the price that must be paid?

That was a sorry bargain that I made.
For that one hour this is the price I give:
Old days, old dreams and thoughts aforetime free,
The inmost heart, the very soul of me,
Content of all the days I have to live.
How could I guess the price that must be paid?
That was a sorry bargain that I made.

OLD TIME FARMERS.

Lawyers Note the Difference That Has Come In Farm Life.

They have law offices in the Spitzer. Both came from one of the progressive counties of northwestern Ohio. Both were reared on the farm, and both make frequent trips to see the homefolks down in the country.

"Say, Charley," said Will as he seated himself in the former's office and helped himself to a cigar out of Charley's box, "I've been down on the farm for a couple of days, and I want to say that, although we pride ourselves here in Toledo of being progressive and up to date, the farmers down in our old county can give us pointers that would make us seem like mossbacks."

"What have you struck now, Will?"

"You know what slow work cornhusking used to be. We would husk away all fall and far into the winter, and then often some of the corn would stand in the field until spring. Mighty slow, tiresome work, and you know how our fingers would wear out and how busy we used to keep the women making finger stalls."

"Well, don't they do the same thing now?"

"Not on your life! They have machine cornhuskers that husk from 200 to 400 bushels a day. Run 'em as they do threshing machines. Some call 'em 'man eaters' because they occasionally chew off a hand or an arm, but the average farmer can husk his whole crop of corn in a week and have it high and dry in the crib.

"That isn't all, either. The machine cuts or shreds the fodder and makes it most excellent feed for stock. Cattle and horses eat it all but the hard ends, and, you see, mighty little goes to waste. The farmers feed this shredded fodder and sell their hay, and they're making money out of it too.

"Some of them bale the shredded fodder, as they do hay, and sell it for $5 a ton, and as the fodder will run two tons to the acre there you have $10 an acre for fodder alone, and they can get that price right at their barns.

"Some of these farmers are mighty foxy. One of our neighbors has rigged up a fodder shredder and a feed cutter by his barn, and he doesn't use horsepower to run them, either. He hitches 'em on to a big windmill, and when a good stiff wind blows he lets it shred his fodder and cut his feed for his stock. He is now experimenting with a buzzsaw and expects to have that windmill saw his wood."

"Farm work is not as hard now as when we were boys," said Charley.

"Should say not. Now the farmers ride while planting and plowing corn, ride while mowing grass, ride while harvesting wheat; have a hay loader which they hitch to the back of a wagon and which loads the hay, and the hay fork unloads it; ride while they cut corn and tie it into bundles. In fact, they do almost everything by machinery and have plenty of time to see their hogs, horses, cattle and sheep grow into money. They have their mail delivered daily, many of them have telephones in their houses, and, all in all, they are living right at home."

And then Will and Charley wondered if they did not make chumps of themselves when they left the farm.—Toledo Blade.

Queer Advice.

A well known medical journal offers this advice, "If the child does not thrive on fresh milk, boil it."

Why not begin by merely spanking it? It may learn to like it after awhile. —Atlanta Journal.

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, July 30.—The cotton market started off quiet, with prices one to three points lower and was predisposed to weakness during the forenoon under room selling and almost total absence of outside buying orders. Investment buying was checked by further liquidation of the August interest and disappointing late Liverpool cables. At the lowest point of the morning prices were down five to eight points from the closing of last night. Receipts at the ports were again very light; the weather forecast indicated clear hot conditions for Texas, Oklahoma and Indian Territory to-night and to-morrow and dry goods and cloth market accounts were rather better than the average at this season of the year, while demand for medium grades spot cotton continued brisk at all points. Towards midday the market displayed a steadier tone on pit covering, prompted by fears that the weekly government crop weather statement would be unfavorable. Noon found the market steady, with prices at about the opening basis. Then came the government report. This showed the crop to have improved quite generally east of the Mississippi river but suffering from the drought, blooming at the top and small west of that line. The statement as a whole was bullishly interpreted and caused a flurry of buying on which prices worked up to last night bids. There was some reaction later under nervous profit taking by smaller holders. In the last half hour the market worked off to almost the lowest point of the day under further realising. The close was quiet, four to seven points net lower.

TRAPPED BY A TOOTH

A BATTLE WITH A BURGLAR WHICH HAD AN ODD SEQUEL.

How a Miner Saved His Valuable Claim Without Having the Courts Pass Upon the Validity of the Disputed Title Thereto.

"I had an experience in the mining business once that was somewhat out of the ordinary and rather interesting," said a Seattle man who has made a good thing out of Cape Nome. "In 1880 I was doing fairly well in the commission business in Chicago. One night my bachelor apartments were entered by a burglar who awakened me by his movements. Being somewhat of an athlete and a slugger, I jumped out of bed and went at him. We hit and clawed and clinched in great shape, but he got loose somehow. He left no clew to his identity except a front tooth that I evidently knocked out with my fist. I had heard his voice, as he had not been at all delicate in his references to me as we scrapped, but beyond those few items we had no means of identifying him.

"Ten years later, with a pretty fair sized wad, I went to the Pacific coast to try my hand in the mining business. One day an old claim showed signs, and within a month it was turning out the dust at the rate of $100 a day with a prospect of going to $1,000. Naturally I was elated, and when I had an offer of $100,000 for the claim I began to feel like a nabob. Then my trouble began, for when I attempted to sell a fellow whom I will call Fry swooped down on me with a title which he contended was better than mine and at once sued me for the claim. My lawyers told me that I was likely to lose the case.

"One day I had a talk of half an hour with Fry in his office, when he lost his temper and swore roundly at my attorney and incidentally at me. Something in one of the oaths he used set my suspicions going, and I immediately came to a conclusion fraught with important consequences and involving a considerable quantity of good cold nerve. I told my lawyer what my suspicions were and what I proposed doing and invited him to go with me the next day to call on Fry at his hotel, where we could see him alone. My lawyer was ready enough for anything to beat Fry, and he accepted my invitation willingly. The next morning we were at Fry's hotel and sent up our cards. Word came back presently for us to come up, and we took the elevator. When we knocked at the door, we were told to come in, and there we found Fry lying in bed reading the morning paper. He was very much surprised at our appearance, and not until we explained that we had sent up our cards did it occur to anybody that the boy had evidently taken the cards to some other room. Luck was on my side that it should have so happened, for Fry was not attired for the day, and in a glass of water on his dressing case I noticed a tooth, and in his mouth was a vacancy which it occupied during business hours. He wanted to know what had brought us around so early in the morning.

"'I hope,' he said to my lawyer, with a sneering smile, 'that you have concluded to accept the offer I made you and give up the property.'

"'My client has the case, Mr. Fry,' responded my lawyer politely.

"'Yes,' I said, a little nervously and sticking my finger into my pocket for something I had there, 'I have charge of the case now, Mr. Fry, and before accepting your offer I desire to make a few remarks. Skipping the legal aspects of the case, I shall come at once to the personal matters involved. You will pardon me, I hope, for alluding to your toilet, seeing that we unintentionally surprised you before you had prepared yourself for our reception, but may I refer to that tooth in the tumbler on your dressing case, Mr. Fry? I must compliment your dentist on the skill he has displayed in supplying the loss of your natural tooth, but I think he would have improved the job if he had called on me before undertaking the entire work himself. Here,' taking from my pocket the burglar's tooth, 'is a tooth I think would have been even a better fit than he made [illegible] about a dozen years ago, and if I mistake not you might be able to recall some of the incidents of the occasion.'

"By the time I had got that far in my speech I was so badly rattled that I could not stand still on my feet, but Fry was a good deal worse, and I don't think he noticed what condition I was in, although he stared at me as if he were looking into the face of a ghost and were slowly turning into stone. He had not apparently had the faintest suspicion of what I was coming at, and not until I took the tooth from my pocket did he fully realize what I was springing on him. Then, instead of putting a bold face on the matter and beating down my bluff, he collapsed utterly and got as white as a sheet—whiter than the hotel sheet under which he was lying. He tried to speak, but could only grasp out a few inarticulate sounds, and we had to give him a drink of liquor out of a bottle on his table before he could recover sufficiently to say anything. Then he threw himself on my mercy and begged me for God's sake not to expose him, because he had been living a fairly honest life for six years and had a wife and two children who knew nothing of his past and loved him. The result after that was plain enough. Of course, I agreed to keep still if he would throw up his case against me, for I had no wish to ruin him utterly if he kept his hands off what was mine, but I warned him that if I heard of his getting mixed up in any more dirty work I would tell my story. He promised me that he would not. Whether he ever did or not I cannot say, but I know that he died years ago leaving $150,000 to his wife and two daughters, and the newspapers in the town where he had been living devoted several columns to him as a token of their esteem for a distinguished fellow citizen."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

When He Held the Jack.

"He was a softish sort of chap, but played a tolerably fair game of seven up," said an ex-sheriff of Pike county, Pa. "We were sitting in, up at Lackawanna, playing for a quarter a corner. I knew he was dead gone on a girl up at the Narrows, and so remarked casually early in the game:

"'Every time a fellow gets the jack of trumps in seven up it's a sure sign his girl is thinking of him.'

"Then I sort of watched the young fellow, and the very next hand he picked up I noticed his eyes light up and a real nice flush of pleasure spread over his face. So I led out, and, sure as pollywogs, I caught his jack, as I thought maybe I would. And it worked so well all the evening that I had a whole lot of his quarters when we quit. But he seemed pleased and went up to the Narrows on the next train."—New York Sun.

Misunderstood.

It was a son of "the ould sod" who had this little passage with the salesman at one of the down town jewelry stores the other day. He had come in to purchase a wedding ring for his bride to be. Leaning far over the counter, so that the clerk should be able to hear his wants without the necessity of informing all the other buyers in the store, Pat whispered to him, "Give me the best wedding ring you have in the shop."

"Eighteen carats?" quaried the clerk.

"No!" snapped Pat, drawing back in an offended manner. "Altin onions, if it's any of your confounded business."—New York Times.

ANECDOTE OF LINCOLN'S DEATH.

How the News Was Received by a Gay Party on Shipboard.

In the lobby of a hotel two men were discussing the effect of the assassination of President Lincoln on the closing events of the civil war and the reconstruction of the south. They finally united in the opinion that, while his death did not materially affect the closing days of the war, the policy of the government would have been different during the reconstruction period had Lincoln lived. They agreed that the southern states would not have been required to submit to "carpetbaggers."

This conversation recalled to mind an anecdote connected with the assassination of Lincoln that probably has never been published. Inasmuch as the stars and stripes were hauled down for the first time during the rebellion at Fort Sumter, in Charleston harbor, it was decided to raise them first at the same place and with much pomp and ceremony. To that end many of the country's representatives were invited to meet at Baltimore to be taken south on a government vessel to participate in the ceremony. Arriving at Charleston the flag was to be run up to the top of the pole amid unbounded enthusiasm. This was on April 14, 1865, the day that Lincoln was killed in Ford's theater by Wilkes Booth. The following evening, while the vessel was off the coast of Virginia and about 100 miles south of Fortress Monroe, the entire party, with two exceptions, was at dinner in the cabin.

The nation's great men were in the best of spirits. The rebellion was ended, the fog of war had lifted and the flag was again over Sumter. Toasts were being drunk amid roseate visions of future peace and greatness. While this was going on in the cabin the captain of the vessel and a prominent merchant of Baltimore were walking the upper deck. One of them called attention to an approaching ship, and they both noticed that her captain was standing on his bridge, trumpet in hand, with the evident intention of speaking to them. When the two vessels were abreast, he called through the horn, "President Lincoln was assassinated in Ford's theater last night by John Wilkes Booth." The Baltimore merchant immediately went below, and from the steps of the companionway repeated the announcement. The effect on the company was electrical. Supreme court justices, United States senators and representatives, members of Mr. Lincoln's cabinet and governors of states were horror stricken. Many burst into tears, the dinner broke up in confusion and small parties of the nation's leaders found secluded corners or paced the deck and discussed the situation.—Indianapolis Press.

Operation Resulted in Death.

The Brazilian surgeon who performed the operation separating the twins Maria and Rosalina has got himself into trouble. The children were so closely joined that they had one pericardium and two livers grown together. One twin, Maria, died, while Rosalina survives, "although a little lopsided as the result of the operation." The surgeon, although a famous man who acted in strictly good faith, has been indicted for murder. The doctors all sympathize with him, for he performed the operation from motives of philanthropy, but he is charged with not observing the proper precautions, and it is asserted that Maria died from blood poisoning.—Mexican Herald.

Cold Steel or Death.

"There is but one small chance to save your life and that is through an operation," was the awful prospect set before Mrs. I. B. Hunt, of Lime Ridge, Wis., by her doctor after vainly trying to cure her of a frightful case of stomach trouble and yellow jaundice. He didn't count on the marvellous power of Electric Bitters to cure Stomach and Liver troubles but she heard of it, took seven bottles, was wholly cured, avoided surgeon's knife, now weighs more and feels better than ever. It's positively guaranteed to cure Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles and never disappoints. Price 50c. R. R. BELLAMY'S Drug Store.

THE LATEST AS TO NERVES AND STRENGTH

It is not muscle so much as the nerves back of muscle which show one's strength and power of endurance. And the study with able physicians of to-day is how to keep the nerves in perfect health and fitted for the strain of everyday living. Headache of every type, nerve weakness, dyspepsia, sleeplessness, languor, restlessness, nervous dyspepsia, muscular weakness, brain weariness, poor circulation,—a thousand different unpleasant feelings and symptoms are due to nerve waste and nerve weakness,—especially in women and children. But how can all this be prevented, one will ask? How can my broken-down constitution be repaired, and nerve strength and full, robust health be secured. Just two points to remember: Determine that you will grow strong in nerves and health, and decide to use at once that most famous nerve cure, COCELIN. It is delicious in taste, quick in action and makes the wearied nerves tingle with renewed strength and every function the stronger and faculty the brighter by its use. Druggists sell it.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

PASSENGER TRAIN WRECKED.

Crowded With Departing Home-Seekers From El Reno—One Man Killed and Twenty-four Others Injured.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

KREMLIN, OKLAHOMA, July 30.—The north bound Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific passenger train, No. 2, which left El Reno at 7, A. M., three hours late, crowded with departing home seekers, was wrecked this afternoon while going at full speed two miles south of here. C. L. McLain, of Enidoet was killed and twenty-four other passengers received cuts and bruises. It is believed that none but McLain was fatally hurt.

A broken rail in a culvert was held by heavy rains and threw the baggage car from the track. This car, the smoker and one passenger coach were overturned, resting on their sides. Three passenger cars and the Pullman also left the track but did not overturn.

The track was torn up for three hundred feet. Passengers in the overturned cars were lifted out through the upper windows.

C. L. McLain, who was killed, was sitting on the car step of the smoker at the time of the accident. He was buried under a car truck and his body not taken out for two hours.

A stock train had passed the point just ahead of the passenger and a farmer's boy saw the broken rail and washout. He tried to warn the passenger engineer but was too late.

EFFECTS OF THE DROUGHT.

Prices of Vegetables in Chicago and Other Cities Average Double the Prices a Year Ago.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHICAGO, July 30.—"Though the drought has been broken," says the Post to day, "the awful effect of the agricultural situation is now being brought home to Chicago and to other cities as well. Prices of vegetables average double what they were a year ago, and to make both ends meet boarding-house keepers and restaurants have been compelled either to raise their prices, or to curtail the quantity served. Eggs, poultry and veal show an excessive percentage of loss. The fruit crop has suffered so seriously that for canning purposes prices are almost prohibitive, and California fruits are now bringing almost as much as they did at the beginning of the season. Potatoes, which last summer sold from 30 to 40 cents per bushel, are now moved up to $1.25 to $1.30. During the past few days dry peas and beans have advanced five cents per bushel, owing to the demand from the drought stricken district. Even at this advance dealers are unable to fill all their orders. Prices quoted are wholesale."

FIVE BRITISH KILLED.

Hard All-Day Fight Between a British Column and a Boer Commando.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

DURBAN, NATAL, July 30.—Details received here of what seemed an ordinary skirmish between a British column and a Boer commando near Nouta, July 28th, shows that a hard all-day fight occurred, in which the British narrowly escaped the loss of a gun of the Sixty-seventh field battery. Four hundred Boers repeatedly rushed the British position, killing Major Edwards and Gunner Carpenter. The gun was limbered up and taken at a gallop for three miles under heavy fire. Five British were killed.

LONDON, July 30.—The War Office has received the following dispatch from Lord Kitchener:

"General F. W. Kitchener, after a long chase of Ben Viljoen's commando, caught up with it. A sharp fight ensued. We captured a pompom and twenty two wagons and took thirty two prisoners. The British had five wounded."

FILIPINOS CAPTURED.

Thirty-four Insurgents Taken by the First United States Cavalry.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

MANILA, July 30.—Thirty-four insurgents, a majority of them armed with rifles, have been captured by the First cavalry in the Batangas province.

The insular government has saved $250,000 by the passage of an act virtually declaring the stone quarries at Mariveles in the Bataan province public domain, and authorizing the utilizing of the stone in the harbor improvements. A Spanish company claimed to have established title to the quarries.

GOLD IN THE U. S. TREASURY.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—The stock of gold in the treasury to-day is the largest in the history of the government and is accumulating at the rate of $4,500,000 to $5,000,000 a month. To day's figures are $504,354,297, of which $248,658,698 is free gold, but including the $150,000,000 gold reserve. Since July 1st, 1900, the stock of gold on hand has increased about $81,000,000.

SAN JUAN HARBOR.

Work of Removing the Wreck of the Christobal Colon Completed.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Captain C. A. Flagler has reported to the chief of engineers that he has completed the work of removing the wreck of the Christobal Colon from the entrance to San Juan harbor, Porto Rico, which was sunk at the entrance of the harbor by the Spaniards in the Spring of 1898 with the intention of closing the harbor. The effort was not successful, but it made the entrance narrow and difficult of navigation.

LABOR TROUBLE IN SAN FRANCISCO.

Maritime Traffic, Labor Along Shore and Industries Are at a Standstill.

ORDER FOR A WALK OUT.

Twelve Thousand Men Obeyed the Order. Contest With Employers' Association Both Sides Determined—Several Disturbances.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—The labor trouble in this city reached a crisis to-day. Maritime traffic and labor along shore are nearly at a stand still and industries are almost totally paralyzed. The order for a general walk out of the City Front Federation, which comprises fourteen unions and organizations, with a full membership of 15,000, was made effective this morning. Three thousand of these men are employed at sea or in other cities and the strike order does not apply to them until they return to San Francisco.

Twelve thousand men obeyed the order to-day. The City Front Federation is composed of the following organizations: Sailors' Union of the Pacific, four local unions of longshoremen, marine firemen, brotherhood of teamsters, ship and steamboat joiners, porters, packers, warehousemen, ship clerks, pile drivers and bridge builders, hoisting engineers, steam and hot water fitters and coal teamsters.

When the order to walk out went into effect all the big shipping companies, with one exception, were left without a union man. By a special agreement, entered into some time ago between the Pacific Coast Steamship Company and the Firemen's Union, firemen remained on the vessel of that company; four coasting steamers, a ship and a schooner, were the only vessels that went to sea.

The Employers' Association.

It is claimed by the officers of all the organizations involved that the strike is not purely an expression of sympathy with the union teamsters, or any other body of workers who are in dispute with their employers, but is a taking up of the gauntlet thrown down by the Employers' Association. In other words the City Front Federation is determined to defend the principles of unionism which the Associated Employers have announced their intention to crush out.

Both sides seem determined to carry the fight on, and all efforts on the part of the mayor and others to bring about a conciliatory settlement have thus far proved unavailing. It is reported unauthoritatively that several of the larger wholesale houses will close down until the strike is settled.

There is every prospect that many other unions will be drawn into the fight, in which case the business of the city will be completely tied up.

Several Disturbances.

Several disturbances occurred to-day, and the first really serious fight since the trouble commenced took place between a party of strikers and two colored drivers imported from the interior. The colored men state they were attacked and fired into the strikers in self defence. One man, a striker, who happened to be crossing the street near the scene of the trouble, was slightly injured. The strikers claim the shooting was unprovoked. The non-unionmen were arrested but were released on bail. Several fights occurred on the water front and the police were compelled to use their clubs freely, but no one was seriously injured.

The transport service has not yet been seriously affected. But few of the firemen and sailors are union men.

The greater part of its cargo has been placed on the Kilpatrick, scheduled to sail Thursday for Manila. A consignment of flour remained to be placed aboard, however, and a gang of stevedores were secured in the vicinity of the Folsom street dock. The majority of the men have been employed continuously on government vessels.

The Meade is the next vessel to be loaded. She is scheduled to sail on August 16th.

Under present conditions the work will continue, and it is said the soldiers at the Presidio will be called on to load the transports.

ALABAMA'S CONVENTION.

Section Four of Suffrage Article, Including the Grandfather Clause Adopted. A Sensational Speech.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., July 30.—The constitutional convention to-day adopted Section 4 of the Suffrage article, which includes the "grandfather clause" and other qualifications for the electorate, but not until Mr. Lowe, of Jefferson, who is chairman of the State Democratic committee, had made a sensational speech, denouncing the whole scheme. Mr. Lowe repudiated the charge that he had assailed the black belt counties of Alabama. He declared that he stood with Senators Pettus and Morgan against the suffrage plan, and that no delegate of the convention, not even the president, would ever occupy the seats of these two distinguished Alabamians. He stated deliberately that it was plainly evident that the purpose of the committee was to perpetuate fraud in Alabama, notwithstanding the chairman of the committee, Judge Coleman, had worn the ermine of the State. He said the people of Alabama are in open revolt against the plan of the majority, and reminded the majority of the convention that it would need the delegates in the minority.

AGAIN AT LARGE.

Two Notorious Safe-Blowers Escaped From Jail in North Dakota.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

DEVIL'S LAKE, N. D., July 30.—As Sheriff Herman Ratlen entered the cell containing P. H. Pickett and Geo. Kelly, the Churches Ferry safe blowers, to-day, they overpowered, bound and gagged him, taking the keys and locking him in the cell. They then released three other prisoners and the five made their escape.

Passing through the sheriff's office, the two safe-blowers helped themselves to revolvers from the desk. As soon as the sheriff could give the alarm the fire bell was rung and citizens turned out in pursuit of the escaped prisoners. One was caught in front of the court house, and two in a wheat field near town, but the safe blowers, both desperate characters and armed, are still at large. Posses are scouring the surrounded country.

TWO MEN MURDERED NEAR POCAHONTAS, VA.

Five Men and a Woman Arrested On Suspicion and Lodged in Jail—All the Parties Are White.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

ROANOKE, VA., July 30.—The dead bodies of John Tolly and Charles Berry were found yesterday in the county road between Pocahontas, Va., and Cooper, W. Va. They had been murdered and robbed. Tolly had been in charge of some railroad construction work at Cooper for some time past. Berry arrived there last week. The two murdered men were cousins and hailed from Tennessee. They went to Pocahontas late Saturday night, where they spent Sunday. When they started for Cooper yesterday morning it is alleged they were followed by Mary Graham and Bob Niddiffer. When Tolly and Berry had gotten a short distance across the State line into West Virginia, they were fired upon from behind. Tolly was shot through the back of the head, and Berry, who was supposed to have turned when the first shot was fired, was shot through the side of the head just above the ear. Both are supposed to have been killed instantly. Tolly was shot twice, one of the shots no doubt being fired after he had fallen, as his face was powder burned.

Mary Graham and Bob Nidiffer were arrested and lodged in jail at Bluefield. The coroner's inquest developed facts which implicated Pete Spangler, George Nelson, George Graham and Jack Martin, all four of whom were arrested and placed in jail. Mary Graham and Bob Nidiffer claim that Spangler and Nelson did the killing. George Graham and Jack Martin are held as witnesses. Mary Graham is the mother of Geo. Graham. All the parties are white.

Tolly leaves a wife and sveral children. Nidiffer claims to be a cousin of Berry. The motive for the killing is unknown, but it is stated that they fell out over a woman.

SUIT BY THE GOVERNMENT.

For Recovery of Part of the $2,250,000 Embezzled by Oberlin M. Carter, of the U. S. Engineer Corps.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, July 30.—The first step by the government looking to the recovery of a part of the $2,250,000 alleged to have been embezzled by Oberlin M. Carter, captain of the corps of engineers, now serving a sentence at Leavenworth, Kas., while supervising government work in the harbor at Savannah, Ga., was taken to-day when Marion Erwin, of Georgia, special assistant attorney of the United States, filed bills in the United States Court of the Southern District of New York and in the district of New Jersey, against O. M. Carter and Lorenzo Carter, his uncle. Under these bills a temporary receiver was appointed for properties in New York and New Jersey. I, Stanton Carter, brother of O. M. Carter, is also made a party to the bill.

The bill seeks a decree declaring that certain property held in New York by the defendants was purchased with the funds intrusted to Captain Carter as a disbursing officer, and by him through conspiracy with the contractors fraudulently converted to his own use. The property, it is charged, is now being held in the name of Carter's uncle and brother for his benefit while he is serving out his sentence in the penitentiary under conviction for the fraud. Under the bill Judge Edward B. Thomas, presiding in the U. S. Circuit Court here, passed an order for service by publication on the non-resident defendants for appearance on September 12th, 1901, and Frank W. Hubby was appointed temporary receiver for the Eighth Avenue property, not disturbing the tenants therein until the non-resident parties can be heard. A similar order was made by Judge Andrew Kirkpatrick, appointing Mr. Hubby temporary receiver in the New Jersey district with like powers as to the Orange, N. J. property.

COTTON AND TOBACCO.

Weather Bureau's Report of the Condition of Crops.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—The weather bureau's weekly summary of crop conditions says in part:

The condition of cotton over the greater part of the cotton belt is improved, good growth and clean fields being generally reported. In Missouri, Arkansas, Tennessee and Central Texas, however, the crop continues to need rain, and shedding and blooming at top in these States are extensively reported.

In the Ohio valley and Tennessee tobacco continues to suffer from drought but in Kentucky has withstood the unfavorable condition well. In New England and the middle South Atlantic States the crop has made good growth. Cutting and curing continue in the Carolinas under favorable conditions.

LYNCHING THREATENED.

Man in Jail Charged With Murdering His Step-Daughter.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

BRISTOL, TENN., July 30.—Armstrong Hensley is in jail at Erwin, Tenn., on the charge of having brutally murdered his little five year old stepdaughter. It is charged that on a trivial provocation Hensley beat the child cruelly, following which he threw her into a stream. She was rescued but died in a short time. The mountaineers of the Unaka range have threatened to lynch Hensley and a guard has been placed around the jail.

STEEL STRIKE IS STILL UNSETTLED.

Failure of Executive Board of Amalgamated Association to Ratify Proposals.

PITTSBURG DISAPPOINTED.

Meeting Adjourned Without Arriving at Any Conclusion—Ratification of Compromise Measures Doubtful Unless Modification is Made.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

PITTSBURG, July 30.—Disappointment and apprehension pervade the air of Pittsburg to-night because of the failure of the executive board of the Amalgamated Association of iron steel and tin workers to ratify the peace proposals arranged at the conference in New York last Saturday between the National officers of the Amalgamated Association and Messrs. Morgan, Schwab and Gary, representing the United States Steel Corporation. When the conference opened this morning it was confidently expected that the agreement would be reached in a short time, but after a session lasting from 9:30 A. M. until 6:30 P. M., the meeting adjourned without arriving at any conclusion so far as known, to meet again to-morrow morning.

The protracted session indicates that the board is not satisfied with the provisions of the compromise measures and unless some modifications are made its ratification is doubtful. The opening of union mills to non-union workmen is the point on which it is believed the board hesitates to accept, and the long distance telephone between New York and Pittsburg was worked frequently to-day to get a modification of this clause. The workmen hold that this would give the mill owners full opportunity of crushing the union without a strike by finding excuses to discharge union men and then fill their places with non-unionists. Another rock of dissension is said to be the retention in their present jobs of the men who worked as "strike breakers" at the various mills during the strike. It is said that these men have been promised the protection of the manufacturers in case of a settlement and that they will not concede their dismissal at the request of the organization. The workers, it is said, are willing to declare the mills now working non union open mills, but strenuously object to having all the mills of the combine classified as open mills.

All is, however, conjecture, as it is impossible to get any definite statement from any of the parties interested concerning the day's conference. When the board dispersed at 6.30 every member was waylaid by persistent newspaper men seeking information, but every question was answered by the stereotyped phrase, "We can say nothing. There is nothing absolutely to give to the public at this time."

It is doubtful if the members of the general executive board of the Amalgamated Association were ever more uncommunicative and reserved than during and after the meeting of to-day. The importance of the matter in hand, the fate of the strike and the welfare of the organization, now idle, rested upon their decision. The full board was present, with one exception.

NEW YORK YACHT CLUB.

Fleet to Disband—The Constitution and the Columbia.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 30.—At a meeting of captains of the New York Yacht Club to-day it was voted to disband the fleet to-night. Yachtsmen generally were discussing yesterday's race in which the Columbia defeated the Constitution and nearly every one now has arrived at the conclusion that the Constitution is not only in poor tune, but she is actually slower than when she raced the Columbia and the Independence two weeks ago. It was pointed out to day that in the last race of the Newport series when the Independence, broke down the wind was almost the same strength as yesterday, yet the Constitution sailed the ten mile leg to windward several seconds faster than the Columbia. Yesterday, in the eighteen mile beat to windward the Columbia was over two minutes faster than the Constitution.

THE HORSES AND THE HEAT.

Several Animals Have Suffered Sun Strokes and Three Have Died—Suggestions as to Care of Them.

A horse belonging to Mr. R. F. Warren and driven to one of the delivery wagons from his bakery, suffered a sun stroke yesterday about noon and died a few hours afterwards. When the stroke was very pronounced with the animal, the driver was surprised to find the horse's brain so affected that he was perfectly crazed and unmanageable. The horse was detached from the wagon and carried to the lot at the rear of the court house, where everything possible was done for his recovery without avail. This is the third horse that has died in the city as a result of the excessive heat of the past ten days and "what to do to save them" is a very pertinent inquiry with owners of horses just at this time.

The question calls to mind a practice imported from Boston last Summer that is observed here on the streets very ordinarily now by drivers of draft horses which have to jog along over the heated cobble stones under a broiling sun, frequently drawing a heavy load. It is the custom of covering the top of the head of the animal with a light straw hat in the crown of which is kept a large sponge filled with water. The brim is slightly wide and with holes cut in the same for the ears of the animal, the sight is a trifle comic but nevertheless one worthy of general adoption.

Many of the draymen have already adopted the plan for the comfort of their animals and the humane idea has become so widespread in this respect that several of the liverymen and harness dealers have supplied their stocks with the "new fangled" appliances for sale.

Men suffering from the heat themselves are very often prone to forget the perhaps intense suffering of the animal being driven and a reminder should serve to provide the horse, pony or other animal with the best possible means of keeping cool. It is not only humane but may prove the saving of many dollars to owner and driver.

RAINS IN KANSAS.

At Least a Third of a Crop of Corn Will be Raised.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

TOPEKA, KAS. July 30.—More rain fell in eastern and southern Kansas to-night. An analysis of the crop situation since the effectual break up of the drought gives the conclusion that there will be at least a third of a crop of corn raised. Some localities report that crops of this kind are so backward before the coming of rain that now it will have a good chance to make something. In the most fortunate of these places, the corn will make nearly half a crop. The live stock situation is also visibly improved, as there are now prospects for an abundance of forage for the coming season.

CHICAGO, July 30.—George H. Phillips, of the Board of Trade, to-day reported to the postal authorities his discovery of an alleged attempt at a gigantic swindle. The drought in Kentucky was broken Monday and yesterday morning when there were heavy rainfalls.
